

Social Networking Apps Uncovered

Application:

Synopsis:

Tinder is an online dating app, which is quick and easy to join, once you have filled in some brief search criteria and selected a distance radius it will bring you up your matches.

All you need to do it either swipe right on a person's picture to like them or left to decline. If it is a match then you can start chatting, and see where it goes from there.

Possible concerns:

There are always dangers to dating sites, as you don't know if the person behind the picture is who they say they are. People just need to be mindful when using them, by letting others know if they are meeting up and picking a safe location.
